LOUISVILLE'S HORROR.

The following from the S. F.

B port is well put:

A month ago San Francisco was in rather low spirits. It consi lered that it had and was having pretty hard usage. It had a grievance against Providence, and was disposed to make the most of it, and all because there had been more rain than was wanted, so that there was delay of work and interruption of the golden stream of wages. In the face of such a calamity as that which overtook the city of Louisville Thursday evening. we should be filled with thankfulness that we have no more to complain of than we have.

In comparison with wrecked, shattered and bloodstained Louisville we have nothing to complain of. Think of her three miles of devastation, her ruined homes and dead, and mained men, women and children by the thousand, and what have we to complain of? Let us feed our hungry and find our honest men and women work to do, and then go forward with graceful hearts in the smooth and safe path, Providence has marked out for this fortunate city. But while thus appreciating our own comparatively happy condition, our sympathies will go out to the people of Kentucky, and although a hard winter has caused an unesual drain upon our pockets, we are sure that Louisville or any other of the cities so sorely visited need our active assistance and some tangible evidence of our sympathy they will readily be forthcoming.

The news of the disaster is heartrending, and will create a sensation of horror and pity throughout the world.

Nevada will be found in the fore ready to help the unfortunates.

FREE FROM CYCLONES.

The recent terrible cyclone in Louisville, Kentucky clearly points out the fact to the Easterners that these disastrous winds will with one mighty rush continue to destroy in the twinkling of an eye the combined production of a century or more.

All the efforts of the people in Louisville and Bowling Green, where the damage was the heaviest, could not prevent the destructive work of this tornado, and thousands of dollars' worth of property and a vast number of lives were destroyed in a short space of time.

Here in the West, where the winds are broken b, the mountains, and the rapid currents of air are intercepted and cut up by the undulations and constantly changing landscape, before they have a chance to form into a whirlwind to suck up the helpless inhabitants and scatterered homes in its terrible vortex.

We can look back to the earlier history of the Pacific Coast, and the worst storm ve can recal has not cost us a human life.

The bill giving married women First authorized by the Legislature, August, 1887, has been doing business ever since. Its drawings takes place every month in the year, and are always held in public at the Turner's Theatre, Butte, Montana.

FAMED FOR THREE YEARS for integrity of its drawings and prompt payment of its absolute control of their wages has passed both Houses of the Kentucky Legislature, and the Governor has signified his intention of signing it.-Ex.

If married women would stop here, they might secure much more attention and we suppose the whole thing is accounted for by the announcement from the lips of some pleasant little woman that this is a plank in the constitution of Women's Rights.

A poetical exchange gets of the following: Oh, the clothes-press is a swell affair for garments nice 200 Prizes of 50 are and neat, the hay press is a grand | 1,081 machine and does its work complete, the cider press is lovely with its juices rich and sweet, but the printing-press controls the world and gets there with both
